Since opening one year ago Yong Great Wall Buffet has gained a large following for its flavourful food selections and affordable prices.

"We have fresh, tasty food for very good prices for both lunch and dinner," owner Zheng Yongfei (Yong) said. "We get a lot of regular clients who like our selection of Chinese and Canadian foods."

Fresh salad options range from garden to Caesar salads, seafood and pasta salads and delicious fruit salads that whet the appetite to get people started on their Yong Great Wall Buffet journey.

Steaming soups can be followed by delicious entrees consisting of Chinese favourites like egg rolls, sweet and sour dishes, General Tao's chicken, rice and noodle dishes, alongside Canadian staples such as pizza, garlic bread, mashed potatoes, roast beef, French fries, ribs and fish.

Sushi, mussels, shrimp and delicious desserts ranging from cakes, pies, ice cream, cookies, Jell-O and puddings are among the varied selection that offers something for everyone.

"There are so many dishes to choose from," Yong said. "Our customers, when they try our buffet, they come back again and again."

Yong Great Wall Buffet is a family restaurant that originated in Mississippi, Alabama in 1992 as a small eatery specializing in caviar, Yong said. From there Yong grew the business into a Grand Buffet in Albany New York, later branching out with three more restaurants in the States before coming to Brantford to be part of a growing city centre.

A colourful décor and unique Orient-inspired features, such as a glass waterfall and giant palm trees in the inviting lobby, highlight the family-friendly atmosphere of Yong Great Wall Buffet. A huge crystal teardrop chandelier hangs from the high ceiling and textured walls are eye-catching features that further accentuate the pleasant design.

Soft, soothing music contributes to the relaxing atmosphere, so people can sit back, enjoy their meals and focus on the occasion.

Seating in the restaurant is plentiful, with several comfortable booths and dining tables available to accommodate every person's needs, whether they are visiting Yong

Great Wall as a couple, a family or a group.

Special occasion celebrations can be easy and enjoyable by simply booking your table in advance. From there, all you have to do is show up and enjoy food selections that will please each person's unique tastes and let Yong Great Wall take care of the rest.
